How it works

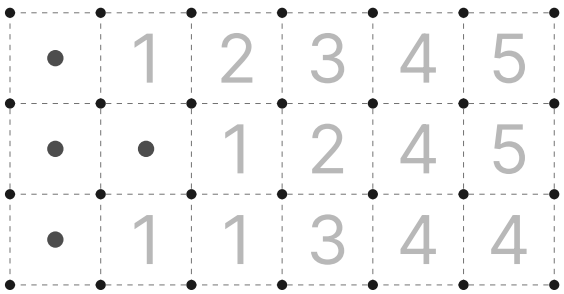

Every puzzle hides a picture. You only need ONE black pen.
Each puzzle has its own right-hand page. On the left you'll find its case card: grid size, difficulty, a log for your time and a strip to test your pen.

1. Look at a square.
A small dot means: draw a dot. A number stands for a pattern – the key at the bottom of every page shows which one.
2. Draw that mark in the square.
Draw the lines from corner to corner, so they meet the lines of the next square.
3. Keep going – row by row.

Tips for the best result

The right pen
A black fineliner or felt-tip pen with a 0.3–0.5 mm tip works best. Gel pens work too. Try your pen on the test strip of the case card first.

One puzzle per page
Every puzzle is printed on its own right-hand page. If ink shows through, it lands on the case card behind it – never on another puzzle.

Corner to corner
Start and end each line exactly in the corners of the square. Then the lines of neighbouring squares join up into long diagonals, and the finished picture looks smooth.

Dots are part of the picture
The small printed dots mark the lightest parts – the background too. Draw a dot right on top of it.

Fill means fill
Squares with a 5 are filled completely. They are the darkest parts of the picture.

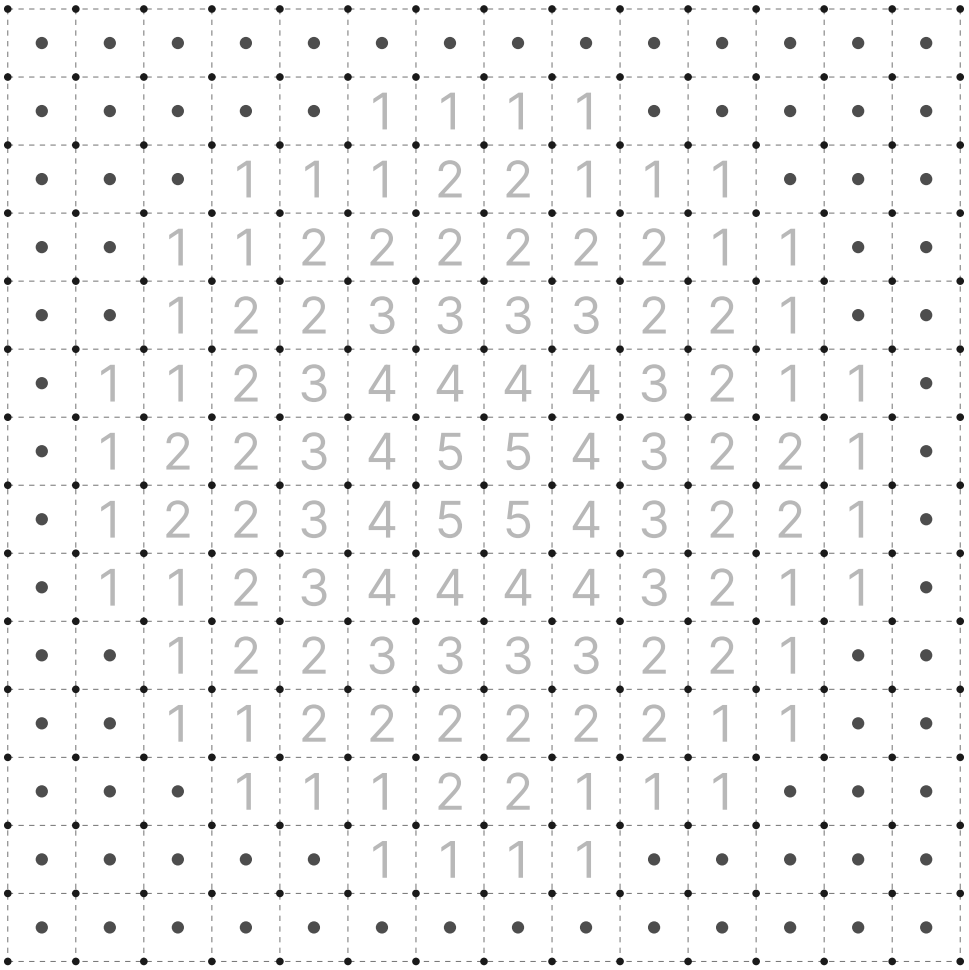

No peeking!
Every puzzle is a mystery – the picture is only revealed while you color. If you get stuck, the solutions are at the end of this sample.

Relax
There is no hurry. One puzzle takes about an hour and a half – put on some music, make a cup of tea, and enjoy it.
